Dear Mr Bailey,

I never saw it in writing. I would be pleased if I misremembered your name, but

On May 25th at 2:15 P.M. of this year I paid you a visit in the F.B.I. office, where I told you details of a certain subject you will surely remember. At the end of the conversation I promised you not to talk about it until I had received word from you whether or not the proper authorities were interested. It was taken for granted that a few months might elapse before the answer could be given.

I have now reached the point however, where I would like to discuss the whole with an expert and I have therefore certainly associated to know whether I have found various complementary as well as fundamental details.

I have now reached the point however, where I would like to discuss the whole with an expert and I have therefore certainly associated to know whether I have found various complementary as well as fundamental details.

It might be that you are too busy to be able to write to me or that the authorities are not interested. As it is not my intention to bother you too much with it, I will take it that there is no longer any necessity for attendance on my part. I do not need any information to the contrary by the end of this month.

By this occasion I do not intend to force an issue but I would like to discuss this with potential friends of mine, who are bound by my promise to you. With very kind regards,

RECEIVED & Truly
